South Shore Art Center Arts Festival 2013

58th Annual South Shore Art Center Arts Festival

Friday, June 14
Saturday, June 15
Sunday, June 16

Welcome to the South Shore Art Center Arts Festival. The Arts Festival showcases the energy and creativity that are part of every day at the Art Center—in our classrooms and exhibition galleries.

Begun on Cohasset Common in 1954, the Arts Festival continues today with an unwavering commitment to engaging young and old in the visual arts through exhibitions, artist demonstrations and art activities.

We offer four terms of courses and workshops in a variety of media for artists of all ages. Over 1400 students visit our galleries and classrooms as part of our Artist in Residence program. Our 160 Gallery Artists exhibit in our Dillon Gallery and at our satellites—the Paul Pratt Memorial Library and the galleries at South Shore Conservatory in Hingham.

We welcome you beyond this weekend to our galleries and classrooms where we know you'll be inspired.

SSAC: A Year in Review

Our 2012 Festival was wonderfully successful by all standards. We initiated a partnership with local restaurants by offering an iPad for a winning patron who brought the entry form to the Festival...The Bancroft Gallery featured quilts from a Mid-Western quilting group, a great backdrop to the Festival jazz reception. Both the Bancroft and Dillon galleries each summer showcase our talented members' work in the Blue Ribbon Members' Show... The SSAC exhibition year opened with a curated show Women 360 featuring work by artists who interpreted issues relating to women...Our weekly Artist in Residence program featured a new artist, sculptor Susan Luery from Hingham. Each week, students from South Shore elementary schools visit the Art Center in a program generously supported in part by HSBC Bank, Mariann and Mark Tosi and Alice Sloan...The national juried exhibition Regarding the 3rd Dimension, Real or Imagined was juried and installed by Camilo Alvarez, Director of Samson in Boston...Tina Sutton, fashion and arts writer at The Boston Globe was the featured guest at our Annual Patron Dinner in late October...In January, the annual Gallery Artists' juried exhibition celebrated the theme Secrets, an exhibition juried by Ed Stitt who wrote very thoughtful and compelling comments about the show...Our annual special event was held at Atlantica Restaurant on Cohasset Harbor: "Island Bash" was a wonderful evening with music and a fabulous art auction...

SSAC—A Year in Review

Following Secrets, we presented a one-woman show Levitations: Horsing Around the large-scale paintings by Kingston artist Carole Bolsey...Our popular Photography Now national show was juried in the spring by Karin Rosenthal... We welcomed new Fall 2012/Spring 2013 Gallery Artists: Deedee Agee, Robert Avakian, Joan Drescher, Lisa Goren, Bernard Korites, Judith Montminy, and Heather Patterson...Our first-ever Gallery Artist Prize Show will be on display in the Dillon Gallery through July 14, 2013 featuring the work of Robert Avakian...The Art Center is currently showing the work of SSAC Faculty members in the Bancroft Gallery...The Artist in Residence program is featured in the Manning Lobby. We were sad to announce that Mary Lizotte and Brooks Kelly, both long-time Gallery Artists, passed away this year. Their vibrant lives and art will be greatly missed by all of us at SSAC.

We are extremely proud of our high school Festival Art Stars this year, whose large-scale installation can be seen in the Art Center's Bancroft Gallery. Don't miss it!

SSAC Awards

SSAC Awards

Congratulations to the recipients of the 2012 Shirley Neer Teaching Prize and our Volunteer of the Year Award, given each October at the Annual Meeting.

Laurinda O'Connor

Shirley Neer Award

The Shirley Neer Teaching Prize is supported by the Neer family and honors Shirley's significant contributions to the Art Center. The prize is given annually to a children's art instructor whose dedication to the art of teaching is inspiring.

Laurinda O'Connor has been teaching at SSAC for several years, including a class at our Shipyard location in 2011. Her middle school and high school students thrive in her classes and have produced wonderful artwork as a result of her dedication and extraordinary teaching style.

Tom Hamilton, Sue McNamara, Chris Rifkin, Andrea Hillier, Elizabeth Morse

Volunteers of the Year

At last year's annual meeting, we honored three long-time volunteers. Tom Hamilton, Sue McNamara, and Chris Rifkin have been loyal and dedicated volunteers at the Art Center for decades. We could not have grown and prospered without their help and devotion. For the past several years, Andrea Hillier has been our special events chair and enthusiastic volunteer for everything we do at the Art Center and our Friday evening opening receptions have taken on a sophisticated and gourmet air with the unwavering support and superior culinary skills of Elizabeth Morse. Thank you all.

President's Prize

Sponsored by Lauren Farrell

The President's Prize is given each year to an outstanding craft artist. The 2012 winner was Grey Seal Press.

Sloan, Jr.

SSAC Artist in Residence Program

This upcoming school year, sculptor Susan Luery will return as our Artist in Residence for this highly-acclaimed program. Known locally for her sculpture of the mother and daughter reading outside the Hingham Public Library, as well as her sculpture of St. Paul, outside St. Paul's Parish in Hingham, Susan's work can be found in private, public and museum collections throughout the world. A favorite sculpture is her monumental work, "Babe's Dream," the 16-foot monument of Babe Ruth standing in front of Oriole Park at Camden Yards in Baltimore.

This past year, the ninth year of this extremely popular outreach program, Susan enchanted visiting students with her introduction to large three-dimensional works by a number of modern sculptors and their creation. She showed the students how she works from drawings and scale models to the process of casting large scale bronze figures in her studio to installation of her sculptures in parks and private settings. The students also had the opportunity to create a head out of clay, working with our talented volunteer teachers, to take home.

Groups of 40–60 students (3rd, 4th and 5th grade) are invited to participate in this program, offered on Wednesday mornings throughout the school year. Because of demand, we must limit each visiting school to two sessions. If you're interested in having your students participate in 2013–2014, please contact Heather Collins, 781-383-2787 or email hcollins@ssac.org. Information and registration forms will be sent to all schools in the area in June.

SSAC Visiting Artist Workshops—2013

Mark Cooper

575 The Next Step

June 20–22, 2013, Thursday through Saturday, 10:00 – 4:00
$350M $400NM

The Next Step—a workshop class focused on assisting each individual participant's efforts to successfully articulate and present their ideas through their chosen media for exhibition, public proposals, grants and appropriate venues. There will be production time in class, critiques, and presentations of relevant successful practice methodologies. Students will bring in work in process, or an idea of a project they are involved with or wish to begin. We will work at taking it to the next level.

The present site-responsive work of Mark Cooper is a culmination of nearly four decades of a robust practice embracing ceramics, paintings, sculptures, drawings, photographs and collaborative projects in what will be his most immersive installation to date. As a departure from his past work where discrete collage paintings and sculptures addressed the site of the gallery as a generous but neutral host, now, Cooper aims to overwhelm the host in an exuberant, grand and riotous way. The work reflects the artist's sustained interest in cultural diversity, visual language, visual literacy and how we understand meaning within our own closed systems of expectations.

Jordan Wolfson

508 Abstraction in Oils: Landscape as Source

July 8–12, 2013, Monday through Friday, 9:00 – 4:00
$525M $575NM

Join Jordan Wolfson for this five-day workshop where we'll explore both plein air painting and the process of abstraction. We will work in the mornings in a traditional plein air approach—outdoors developing tonal relationships in response to the landscape, in search of a convincing sense of space and light, as well as different ways of handling and applying paint. In the afternoons we will work on one canvas (approximately 36"x 42") for the duration of the five days, using our morning paintings as source material for an ongoing and improvisational discovery of abstract painting. Risk and play will be encouraged! Individual attention will be given in a supportive and creative atmosphere.

Dan Welden

541 Solarplate, Advanced Solarplate Printmaking and Hybrid Works on Paper:

A Master Class

July 13–16 Saturday through Tuesday 9:30 – 4:30
$450M $500NM

This four day "art making" workshop will revolve around the 'Solarplate Process' and will require established printmakers to have a good background with both the processing and printing of Solarplates. Dan will demonstrate both relief and intaglio methods, as well as color printing and creating various "Hybrid Works". Participants will be encouraged to utilize embossment as well as a layering of color. Each person may choose to work on multiple plates and many images, or concentrate on a series of works from a single image.

Welden will also demonstrate his unique approach of "reworking" impressions with painterly and graphic techniques. Printmaking experience is mandatory. It is requested that artists applying for this class are 'self directed' and interested in developing a 'series' of work. This is not an exploratory introductory 'how to' class but one with an emphasis on master works. Solar plates will be available for pre purchase at a 25% discount and must be ordered 2 weeks prior to the session.

502 "Masks and Mirrors" Portraiture Today: A Drawing Class

July 30 and August 1, August 6 and 8 Tuesday and Thursday 10:00 – 4:00
$450M $500NM

What is portraiture in the 21st century? How do you see yourself and others?

We will look for new ways to visualize the portrait. What is behind the mask and how much of it do we need to see? What associations, artifacts, symbols and mediums help define our inner lives? We will examine the perceptual vs. the conceptual and the direct vs. the indirect ways of arriving at images to construct an individual's identity. Problems will be given as starting points, with some work to be done in class and outside of class. Experimentation with collage is highly encouraged, using old letters, pages from cookbooks, art books, newspapers, plastic, wood, cloth fragments, anything that will stimulate an idea to build on. This course moves into the known and the unknown areas of portraiture where daring and imagination are necessary to express how other visual concepts about art related to form and content can be developed. The class is divided into two weeks, two days a week to allow for the digestion of ideas to build on.
